"Yeah, yeah! These look to be in pretty good condition. These tents seem to be intact and we've got all the poles too. There's mattresses and sleeping bags too," the man at the back of the store called out. At the front the rest of the men were quiet for a moment.

"I don't like this. Is this really what it's come down to? We're stealing?"

"It's not stealing, Jack! It's survival. Do you want your kids to keep sleeping without a roof over their heads? They'll get pneumonia, or worse!"

"Yeah... but this still feels wrong. We could just find a building that's at least somewhat safe, right?"

"We've been trying to do that for two days, Jack. Every place is either full or cordoned off as structurally unstable. We've looked everywhere!"

The man from the back of the store was shuffling around. You could hear the clinking of backpacks and then the shuffling of something being stuffed inside them. From the front you heard another crunch of glass, followed by three gasps. A dark voice murmured "Leave. Now."

"Oh god... Nightreaver... Please, this is for our families..." one of the men said, his words followed by a nasty sounding hit and a groan.

"Stay down," a rough, gravelly voice announced to the whole store. The voice was accented and harsh in a way that reminded you of certain German and Austrian actors. It was a very distinct voice that stood out.

Reveal yourself and intervene.

Reveal yourself and watch.

Try and sneak away.

the 2nd day of christmas this game wasent working anymore. (for real). In short, Gyromancer isn't rewarding at all. Everything outside of the gameplay is generic as hell.

It started out very fun, a mashup of a bejeweled and a very simple rpg, but not too far into the game it introduces a mechanic that ends up being so punishing that it sucked out all the fun.

The puzzles themselves are battles where you choose a monster with elemental affinities and rotate the pieces (in only one direction, mind you) to create matches to build up to attacks on your enemy, the direction lock is already pretty punishing but the game was fun enough at that point. After a few chapters, it introduces a penalty for "idle moves" when you dont create matches that DRASTICALLY favors the enemy as punishment.

I tried to power through it, but despite my best efforts it just wasn't fun anymore.. Yncuje naise supder nerver gelegass Na'Vi(zaebis) & Envuys(pidorasi) hui ghirenger & jonerted. I thought I was pretty good until the first boss laid me out a few dozen times. There's more positioning and tactical strategy than the average 2D shooter. Rather than holding down a button or frantic clicking it's more about timing when/where you deploy your bots and use special abilities. The pace is moderate to fast. The bosses provide a good challenge (judging by the first one).. Pretty decent!

A great start to your path in VR games!. If you don't care about achievements then I don't recommend you to buy this pack. If you want some plus achievements then buy this buggy\glitchy POS. I've played through all the 9 Drag Championships for the 1st place and I got the 3 achis, it was boring and pain in the butt. I would give this a "meh", but there are only positive and negative buttons.. We need to make a new map

COD Devs: We have the GDP of a small country and enough creative force to rival mecha-shakesphere, lets make another generic desert map

Graviteam: We have the money reserves of a high school in Siberia and a couple of Gopniks that like tanks. Lets make a unique map with bridges, water, and all based on a real location. Oh, and lets throw in drones, because \u2665\u2665\u2665\u2665 it why not.. just....so bad.

Nice Timing Game. i Loved it since Farm Frenzy 2 Pizza Party. My wife and I just couldn't get into this game. I gave it 30 minutes, and it just seems really boring to us. That is just my opinion, and this seems like a game one might play on a touch screen tablet or phone. I do not see this as a VR central game, but a phone port. Not bad in VR if you like those sort of games. I just expected something more than that from all the positive reviews.. Bought this while on sale, and it's a fun well built game... Awesome soundtrack and superpowers that make you feel like a badass... However, in it's current state I dont feel it's worth the $20, so wait for a sale or some more added content!. a masterpeice, and should be worshipped like a message from the gods. 5.5/10. A beautiful and unique take on the managment sim genre.

With the things I learned from Terroir, I feel like crushing some grapes.... great game and i love reading the discussions which go along the lines of:

"omg why did u not include random massacre of random place which killed 200 billion people"

"vuvuzuela have bad economy xD"

"if u dont show what i want den bad gam!!1". Too much talking..... I mean the DLC for this game really sucks. I bought the season pass thinking that without it I wouldn't be able to get the tuning specs that were going to be added. I now know that the new specs come in a free update every month. Don't buy any of the DLC for this game unless you really like the cars and want them. I only wanted the circuit spec camaro RS and that comes out tomorrow in the vintage update.. Really an amazing experience and so many animals!

Would like VR support for linux too.. Really fun if you are a fan of MotoGP. I got it when it was 75% off, but would not begrudge paying full price for it :)
